Avarice—The Excessive Love of Money.

An excessive avarice is the greatest curse that can afflict any man's virtue and happiness, or any countries liberty and honor; and if there is not in existence at the same time in the same subjects, that amount of consciousness which is sufficient to counteract and restrain its desires and operations, and confine them within the bounds of reason, it will unjustifiably oppress and extort from other individuals and nations.

If they have that amount of consciousness it reacts, returns from its foreign relations upon its domestic and devours its own substance, for when once acquired, it is a flame that unceasingly burns and consumes, and therefore must be supplied either with foreign or internal material; and whether it be fed by plenty or starved by penury remains alike unquenched.

If unrestrained in its desires and operations it becomes the precursor, the inceptor, the leader, the promoted and matured of almost every species and denominations of crime, that can curse and afflict the human family, nationally as well as individually.

When unrestrained, it over-leaps battlements, out-rides armies, in search and pursuit of its prey; and when it once becomes licensed by public opinion and confirmed by long standing habit and practice, it destroys every feeling of compassion and humanity, and totally uproots all charity.

When left to itself it converts its possessor into a ferocious beast of prey, that prowls like a wolf and insatiably consumes and devours like the voracious, and where soever it is, or goes, there is nothing secure from its grasp; nothing can withstand its tiger-like fury.

When left to itself it converts one portion of society into over-reaching, unprincipled scoundrels, oppressors and tyrants—another into slaves and scavengers who grovel in the earth, subsist upon filth, accumulate dross, and wallow in filth.

In town or country, in the streets or in the field, in the houses or the temples—all things, Divine as well as human, are by it confounded and waste and consumed.

It arrays friends against friends—kindred against kindred—nation against nation.

It converts the human family in mass into users, shavers, shyllocks and fiends—the earth into a Pandi-monium.

It alienates children from their parents, parents from their children.
It separates brother from brother, sister from sister, disposses their peace, their happiness, their honor, their reputation, their prosperity, and even their liberty.

In short—it evades all laws, defies all powers, breaks through all order and sets at naught every principle that characterizes justice, brotherly kindness and humanity.

It hardens and tyrannizes the heart, it dissembles with the countenance, lies with the tongue, and oppresses with the hand.

It not only weakens and effemi-nates the body, but debases and depresses the faculties of the mind, palates, destroys and damns the soul.

When avarice becomes the predominant and confirmed habit of a people, talents are diverted from their legitimate pursuits and acquirements—money-making becomes the standard of character and the order of the day—nearly every man enters the market and finds a purchaser, all are allured or violently swept along the current of corruption, virtue and honor are lost in the scramble, and at length all are prostrate at its shrine. Then public morality sinks, the former virtues habits and character of the people are changed and lost, the love of country is merged in the love of money and national freedom dies, and then all the curses of a corrupt and debauched slavery smite and afflict the people.

This is the true course and woful experience and teachings of all natural history, and it may here be perpetually enquired how nearly have the American people already reached this degraded standard of social and political existence.

No people, who were so afflicted with the mania of money-making as the American people now are, ever maintained their freedom for any respectable length of time.

Among such a people every thing is offered for sale—everything becomes an object of barter—all is thrown upon the stock exchange and finds a purchaser.

In such a scramble, constitutional liberty is considered of little value, neglected, lost in ignorance, or publicly knocked off to the lowest bidder.

A fat office—the dazzling trappings of wealth—the alluring prospect of an idle, sensual and debauched enjoyment becomes the sole object of all—the height of public and private ambition, gives tone and character to public and private morals, and ends by sweeping all into the cesspool of corruption.

Then constitutional securities instead of longer remaining a shield of righteous protection are reduced to mere figments of the imagination or converted into a cloak under whose cover all the villanies of demagogues and despots are concocted and matured, and in the sanctity of whose name all the enormities and robberies of tyrants are committed and practiced with impunity upon a fallen, prostrate, and defenceless people.

Is not this now the every day practice here of loyal unprincipled masters upon hapless slaves?

Is not this the history of all the past, fallen, lost and extinguished republics here repeating itself—again passing in review before the American people—will they take warning in time and profit by the example, or will they stand idly by with folded hands as others have done and lost all by default. Great God! waken them up!—teach them understandingly, by both precept and example to take care of themselves!

Good God deliver us from the government of brutes, into the hands of a nation of Gods, or at least convert us into a nation of Philosophers and then we may hope to perpetuate and enjoy self government.

Philosophers are always mild—always charitable—always just, and never persecute.

Were wealth once stripped of its illegitimate power and advantageous splendor, its trappings would perhaps cease to glitter in the eyes of the world, and then we might hope to see avarice yield to rectitude, id-lents directed to more useful pursuits and acquirements, virtue restored to her empire in the heart, man to justice, humanity, happiness and equality! But not till then!

About John Brown—Alabama Claims to be Settled—Reorganizing the Army.
FUTURE HOUSE THAT WAS, (BUT NOW)
HOME FOR THE FRIENDLESS
May wan.

MISHER TUMMERY:—Do ye know ye are kicking up the devil's own excitement by yer pranks in Noo York? I allude to the report that is in circulation here that ye have on exhibition at yer office here the identical drop, or thrap door on which John Brown stood when he was hung. And they tell me cousin and myself that ye also have a soldier who limps in one arm because of losing it in battle, to play a hand organ in accompaniment, the old tune "John Brown's body lays mouldering in the grave." Now, have ye no respect for the feelings of me cousin, who is always sick when Misher Brown is mentioned, because at the time he was hung me cousin said it served him right, and now he is obliged, be force of circumstances, to say it was a bloody shame. And look at this now! Butler was just in to see me cousin, and he says that you have told some one that you would keep that drop until Butler was convicted of some of his crimes, and then present it to the lucky hangman, to be used for letting Butler into eternity.

Missher Butler says he don't care that happens then he does come to die, but it is mighty unpleasant to have it thrown in his face ivry day.
I think myself that if ye wouldn't act so, and talk about hanging so easy, me cousin and Missher Butler would enjoy their slaps a hape bet-ther. I have been around the city and ordered all the organ-grinders to stop playing the tune about Missher Brown's body a mouldering in the grave. It's too solemn.

I am having a healthy time trying to kape me cousin Ulysses at home.
He has heard of a horse race about to come off at Long Branch, and he says it is his duty, being a property owner there, to be present, and lend his countenance to the sport, and perhaps win a bit of shupms. I have thried, wid the assistance of me wife Bridget, and another demijohn of bitters, to convince him that it is his duty to remain here as long as Congress sees fit to remain, and draw pay, but he says damn Congress, which is swearing, and highly un-proper in a President, but wid such a Congress I don't see just how one can get along widout swearing and do it justice. I have to watch me cousin as any lunatic is watched, to kape him from going to Long Branch, and all I get for it is curses, and me heard and clothes. Well, it's asier work than sawing wood, which I did before I found out me relationship to the President.

All the talk now in social circles here, that is in the bar and billiard room, is about the Faynians going to Kinney. Me cousin objects to their going there until the Alabama claims are settled; and says he shall stop it, at any expense, even if it is necessary to send a man to the border to order the Faynian army to kape the peace. I axed him who he would send, if it become necessary to uphold the dignity of the Government by sending an embarrassador to the Kinnadean border, and he said his mind was divided betune meself and General Dint, but as Dint would not want to get near enough to the guns to make the Faynians hear that he said, widout a telescope, me cousin thought that he should send meself. I never told a lie in me life except in self-defense, or then it would work in better than the truth, but be the howley jabbers, if he sends me out to the border to order the Faynians to quit making war on the oppressors of me native land, I will tell them to go in, and I'll back them to the extent of me influence wid the besht government.

If I am not careful then I get there I am afraid I shall enlist as a correspondent, and die for the cause wid a pen behind me ear, or a knot in a rope at the same place.

Speaking about the Alabama claims, me cousin has decided how to settle them, and our piscatorial secretary has sent a proposition to Queen Victoria. It is this: The Queen is to pick out the besht man in Parliament, and we are to pick out the besht man in Congress, when a select party will take them and go to Canada, and let them fight it out in a twenty-four foot ring, according to the rules of the prize-ring. Av coorse, our man is John Morrissey, and wid his fists he can argue the socks off of any member of the British Parliament for shupms. This is wan of the secrets of Mr. Morrissey's being excused from taking part in the proceedings of Congress the past session. The story about his wife's being sick is a bit of a trick.
He has been in thraining all winter.
There has been considerable inquiry about John's absence, and me cousin has been blamed for not sending aither him, but me cousin says he knows his business. In addition to training for the fight, Congressman Morrissey has been under an engagement wid our prominent Republicans to create a division in the Democratic party of New York, but me cousin says he has made a fiasco of it. That is a fiasco! Another thing: John has been fitting up his gambling house at Saratoga, for the reception of me cousin Ulysses this summer, and has promised to let him win $50,000, just to draw other pale by his presence and countenance.
Me cousin wants John to start one at Long Branch, too. Arrangements have been made to take Mister Morrissey into our party, as his loyalty has been demonstrated.

Me cousin and other army officers are playing an illegit trick on Congress. We have got owd Wilson to introduce a bill to reorganize the Army, and it provides that there shall be 25,000 officers and enlisted men.
You will see the point of this, but divil the member of Congress can see through it. By this bill we can have twenty-four thousand nine hundred and ninety-eight officers, and two enlisted men. "And enlisted men," you see? Well, two will fill the bill, you observe. This will open a cavity such we can fill wid applicants for office, as there isn't a relative or a politician that won't accept a commissioned office in the army, especially when theirs is no fighting to do. And that will secure the re-nomination of me cousin for Presidency in 1872, and all is lovely again, don't you see? If we experience any difficulty it will be in getting the two enlisted men, but then nagers will answer. The only drawback will be, the nagers may want to be officers, since the Fifteenth Amendment has begun to work.
However, if we have to give the nagers a share of the officers, and can't get any two of the colored race to enlist, hy, ye know, it will be aisey enough to order a draft among the thite men for the two privates.
We can fix it some way, wid two such heads as meself and me cousin.

Me cousin is troubled a bit about owld Schenck, and some other lunatics, who are talking about reducing the taxes. They appear to think we can live on nothing the blaggards.
If taxes are reduced we shall have to economize by doing our own washing, using a poorer article of fishky, —because they have quit sending us presents of fishky— and shoking pipes instead of gold-tipped cigars.

Ah, be the way, it is now belated that Collector Bailey has got far enough away so he can't be found, so me cousin has ordered a detective to be set on his track, and about the first of June a reward will be offered for his capture.

Missher Tummary, me cousin don't often ax ye to assist him, but he says if ye could think of any method of inducing Congress to adjourn, and will use your influence in that way, he will take pleasure in having ye do it.

TERENCE MCGRANT.

P. S.—Bridget has run away wid a nager, and I am pining away in sorrow for the nager, until I don't weigh only 180 pounds. I shall shoot the nager on sight if he shows any signs of bringing her back.

MEMORIAL DAY—MAY 24th.

At a meeting of the Confederate Monumental Association held on the 7th inst., it was resolved, that the 29th of May, should be our annual "Memorial Day," for the Confederate dead at this place.

Gen Geo. B. Hodge, will deliver the address for the occasion.

Fennell's Cornet Band will be in attendance.

Let all our friends prepare a bouquet for the 29th.

A programme for the occasion will be published containing orders of the day.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

Wm. E. Arthur, Esq., will address the people of the Rutland Precinct, at Rutland, June 7th, 1870. Every-body is invited to hear him.

HARRISON COUNTY.

Wm. Smith, our Assessor has finished his work and returned his books to the clerk's office. He is an accountant, surpassed by none in this country. His book is perfect.

The property assessed for taxation in this county, amounts to $6,668,170. It is a small amount less than the year previous.

The valuation of taxable property in the hands of the colored people amounts to $35,700.

There are 582 negroes in the county over 18 years of age. About 480 of whom will be old enough to vote.

McFARLAND ACQUITTED.

This great case which has been before the New York Courts for the past four weeks, was brought to a close on Tuesday last, the Jury turning McFarland free.

The story is this:—A fellow called Richardson, had destroyed McFarland's family and happiness by seducing his wife and stealing his children. McFarland shot him and he died. For this McFarland was tried and cleared.

So may it ever be, with all the McFarlands, who kill scoundrels, who interfere with their family rights.

MISCEGENATION.

That is the word, and that is the next proposition for consideration. Already many Northern radical newspapers have declared openly in favor of making a mongrel crew of the people of the United States, and assert that no progress may be expected in this country unless the races mix up—unless the white women marry negroes, and white men wench.

This is no joke, dear readers. The The leaders and thinkers in the radical party declare that this proposition shall be a part of their policy and platform. That no man can be a faithful republican unless he places himself upon a social equality with his dark and sooty neighbors—that eating and sleeping with them will only give a republican a clear title and passport to all the positions which his party can bestow.

We advise every white man, who has the proper respect for himself, to step voting with such a gang—to leave their ranks, and never gather with that radical squad again—or prepare to swallow the whole nigger, without anything to wash him down.

XV. AMENDMENT JUBILEE.

On Friday last, the Colored people of this and the surrounding counties celebrated the proclamation of the adoption of the Fifteenth Amendment, in Cynthiana.

The morning of the 6th, presented appearance of a stormy character, but by 11 o'clock the clouds cleared away, and the darkies became happy.

When the cars arrived here in the morning, from Lexington, they brought a colored band of musicians with brass instruments, all looking well and in good cheer. A large crowd came on the cars. The colored people marched from the depot to the colored Methodist Church on Pleasant Street, where they formed all the benevolent societies, dressed up in their regalia, and with a large number of little black-girls dressed in white, red, and blue, each carrying the Star-spangled in her hand, all loaded into a vehicle and placed in the center of the procession. It is said the little ones represented a State. It was a query with us how the colored people should know how many States there are in the Union, when Congress is kicking them out every other day.—And as they waved their flags, we heard a passer-by utter an expression—"take down that flaunting lie,"—which sentiment was given to the world by Lloyd Garrison, the great father of free-niggerism.

The colored procession presented a very respectable appearance, as they passed through town on their way to the grounds over the bridge to our so-called "Covington," where they were addressed by Rev. Mr. Strus, of this city, and a Mr. Thomas, of Lexington, and Capt. Wilmot, of Covington. There were others who delivered addresses, but we heard no names mentioned, except W. W. Kimbrough's. He is a candidate for County Attorney, on the Republican ticket, and made a speech.

After the speaking was concluded dinner was served to all on the ground.

There were 1200 people in attendance, and with one or two exceptions behaved well and looked well. The procession marched to town about 4 o'clock, with music.

We were particularly astonished to see that none of the white republicans marched in the procession.—We suppose they were prohibited from so doing.

MRS. LINCOLN.

This woman, the wife of Abe Lincoln, deceased, formerly known as the "late lamented," has been residing in Europe for the past twelve months. But little has been heard from her, since she left the United States. It is our opinion that she left the country to get rid of her radical tormentors. They had commenced their regular style of shrieking and howling against her, as all lunatics do when under excitement, and as soon as she had left their yelps were heard no more. Radical hatred for her seems to have abated very materially. How they could have relented so soon, is more than we can understand, for it is not characteristic of a New England Yankee—and as the policy of that people rules the country, Congress should have adhered to it. But no kind of data can be established by which the action of this people can in any manner be accounted for. To-morrow they will oppose every proposition they advocate to-day.

We speak in this wise of the rats, because, the House of Congress recently passed a Bill giving Mrs. Lincoln a pension of three thousand dollars per year—we hope she will be happy now.

When this Bill went into the United States Senate, the committee to which it was referred reported adverse to giving her a pension, and we suppose, she is now unhappy. We can not conceive what has caused this split among the mongrels.

Ring's Vegetable Ambrosia.

Hereditary baldness is supposed to be incurable. All that can be done where it begins to show itself is to put off the evil day by the judicious use of some stimulating or cooling preparation that shall create new action in the glands or follicles, usually called roots, and thus tighten the hair that would otherwise become loose and fall off. Ring's Vegetable Ambrosia has acquired an enviable reputation for this purpose, generally but not invariably, proving successful.

DISASTER AT RICHMOND, VA.

We made a notice in our last issue, of the dreadful calamity which had recently overtaken the people of Richmond, and which threw them into sorrow and mourning. No city, in this country, has ever been visited with misfortunes so strong as Richmond, and the heart that is not moved at the recital of the sufferings of the unfortunates must be black and callous enough to enter upon that eternity of hell, which it is said our Creator has prepared for all those, who forget him. And it is an indisputable fact that in the heart where no sympathy is found for the creature, it is just as true that none can be found for the Creator. Therefore, such people are doomed.

In Congress, on the 3rd inst. Hon. T. L. Jones, got up in his place and said: "I rise to a privileged question, and submit the following resolution for consideration at this time:

Resolved, In view of the appalling calamity which has fallen upon the city of Richmond by which so many human beings were hurried from time to eternity and many others dangerously injured, and in consideration that to-morrow, the 4th inst. has been set apart by the authorities and people of that city as a day of fasting and prayer, that this House, in respect for the dead, sympathy for the living, and a proper appreciation of such a signal manifestation of Providence, when it adjourns to-day adjourns to meet at eleven o'clock on Thursday next.

The Speaker ruled that the resolution must receive the unanimous consent of the House, to be considered.

Mr. Garfield, of Ohio, and another radical whom they call Ames, opposed the proposition. The points of opposition set up by Ames were not made known—much like himself aimless.

In this, as in every other proposition, wherein the people of the South are interested, opposition is offered with no cause other than political.

These two great free nigger whang-doodles believed they were doing their country much service in refusing consent. If their carcasses contain a particle of leven, it is of that kind which leads them to their own damnation. They are two worthy disciples of the negro-worshipper's faith; and all persons who bow down to the false Gods set up by the "Black Harlot" will find themselves given over as it were to self-condemnation, back-biting, and the unconstitutionality of their whole physical and moral system. Let the man who proposes to follow the radical party as blindly as Garfield and Ames have been keeping step, to write down in his hat, before he starts, the words which are found over the doors of hell, "who enters here leaves hope behind."

THE FREE SCHOOLS OF HARRISON COUNTY.

In this age of enlightened progress, none can be found to call in question, or doubt the necessity of universal education. No argument is needed to prove to the people of Harrison county the importance and the duty of educating their children. While all are ready to admit, and willing to perform, this first great obligation they owe their offspring, it may not be inappropriate to offer some suggestions which may tend to facilitate and hasten the work of reform, which is needed in our Common Schools.

As every white citizen in the county, owning property, will contribute of his means toward creating the School revenue, so every man, having children to educate, will naturally and justly demand a share in the benefits the fund is intended to confer. It is estimated that the annual tax of twenty cents on each $100 in value of the property of the State, now imposed by law, the interest on the new bond issued by the State to the Board of Education, and all fines and forfeitures set apart by existing laws in aid of Common Schools, will form the basis of an effective and vigorous system that will guarantee a free school for five months in each year, in every district in the county.

Previous to the imposition of the additional tax, the amounts derived from the school fund of the State were so insignificant, that in many parts of the county no effort was made to secure it. As a consequence, many portions of the county, to-day, are without organized districts, and without school houses. Such neighborhoods, if they contain a sufficient number of children, should apply at once to have a school district organized and established, and proceed to build a school house, with a view of securing the advantages of the public funds annually to be distributed to all districts in which schools shall have been taught pursuant to the law enacted last winter. Any neighborhood, possessing a requisite number of children within the pupil ages, and which has no school within a convenient distance, can have a school district established embracing the same, provided such neighborhood can report not less than forty children without infringing, fatally, on the established boundaries of an adjoining district.

Already several new districts have been organized, and quite a number, that had failed to report for several years, have been resuscitated under the impulse given by the increased tax. Dissatisfaction has been expressed on the part of some of the large districts in the county, because of a reduction of their extended boundaries. It ought to be borne in mind that those large districts were established under the old law, when no objection was urged on the part of those living remote from the school house to which they had been attached, and which they never patronized. Now, that the distributable share of the school fund has been increased, so as to make it an object worthy the attention of all interested, whole neighborhoods situated within the boundary of an extensive district, embracing in its area a great scope of country, have asked to be detached from their former connections, and they wish to take steps to set up for themselves. No legitimate objection can be offered why such sections should not be permitted to have a district of their own, when neither district will be reduced below the minimum number, which is forty, and in cases of extreme necessity, twenty.

There are in this county nearly four thousand children within the school age; to adequately accommodate these, not less than seventy-five school houses are needed. But there are in the county, to-day, scarcely fifty, and more than one-half of these are a disgrace to the intelligence, the wealth, and the enterprise of our population. With the increase of the school fund, and the consequent general advancement of the standard of public instruction and intelligence, it is to be hoped the friends of popular education in this county will begin at once to build new, more commodious, and comfortable school houses, suitable for the accommodation of their children.

To me it has ever been an enigma, how men of intelligence and wealth even, who exhibit the tenderest solicitude for the welfare and comfort of their daughters at home, seem to rest perfectly content to have them cooped up from six to eight hours a day in a dilapidated, comfortable, miserable log-hut, with an oblong hole at one end, in mockery called a window, the ceiling about six feet from the floor, and benches of the rudest shape, without backs, on which their tender children, accustomed to cushioned seats at home, are compelled to weary out the long school days, deprived of the comforts and cheering associations, which the surroundings of a pleasant house, and neat school furniture would inspire.

WON'T STAND IT.

HARRISON COUNTY, KY.,
May 9, 1870.

MR. MOREY:—DEAR SIR:—I notice by your paper of the 28th ult., that my name is reported in the proceedings of the Republican Convention, as a working committee in the Leesburg Precinct. My name was used without my authority. I have always been a constitutional law abiding man, and a union man, but I am not in favor of negro suffrage or negro equality, and when I vote hereafter it will be with the white man's party.

MR. MORGAN AND OTHERS.

GENTLEMEN:—As you have declined, through the Cynthiana News, to act as members of the Working Committee appointed by the last Republican Convention, We hereby accept your resignation, and we say to all who are tender footed, if you can not conscientiously uphold the great principles and doctrines of our party, viz: Equal Rights, Equal Laws and Equal Justice to every human being—then act so as to satisfy your own conscience, and in pleasing yourselves no man can complain of you.

By order of the Harrison County Committee, W. C. MUSELEMAN, Secretary.

GENERAL LEE IN HIS GLORY.

From the Charleston Courier, April 29.

Southern Homage to the Ex-Rebel Chief.

A grand reception on Wednesday night, at the residence of W. J. Bennett, bore testimony, ample and grateful, of the veneration and affectionate esteem in which Robert E. Lee, the great chief of the (so-called) "Lost Cause," is held by the elite of our people. From eight P. M. to twelve there was no cessation of the overflow of comers. Old and young, the graybeards and sages of the country, the noble, pure, honorable, poor and wealthy, with hardly an exception, were present, and glad to do him honor. Stately dames of the old school, grandmothers of seventy, and a long train of granddaughters, all flocked around the noble old chief, glad of a smile, of a shake of the hand; and happy was the girl of twelve or fourteen who carried away on her lips the parting kiss of the grand old soldier.

Such has been his welcome in Charleston; but oh! how much more fervent it would have been had his health been sufficient to have permitted him to yield himself freely to the popular anxiety to see him, feel the pressure of his hand, and hear his words, however few, in those subdued and mellow tones which declare the gentleman.

General Lee is evidently feeble, and his good nature was severely taxed, even by the loving exactions of those who only sought to do him honor. His fine figure seemed relaxed and weary, but his noble and benign features, heroic and handsome, lost none of that amiable sweetness of expression which, even in his case, trained to the field, spoke for the courtier far more than for the soldier. We noted that his skin was fair, florid and healthy, announcing sufficient stamina, could he escape from toil and society, for perfect recuperation. The grace, ease and simplicity of his manner were a charm in every eye, and even the few sentences which it was permitted him to speak were all so many tones of fascination to the eager ear that bent forward to listen.

Among the visitors present were noted two of the Secretaries of President Davis' Cabinet, the Hon. Messrs. Memminger and Trenholm; and Judge Bryan, District Judge of the United States, did not conceive it inconsistent with his loyalty to do reverence to the great man in seclusion. His classical studies alone would keep him from such slavish disregard to genuine heroism. He well knows, as well as any man, that more noble Marsellus, called, feels, than Caesar, with a Senate at his heels.

But the tributes of the ladies were even more profuse than those of the gentlemen. Very beautiful was the collection, and it spelled the eye and charmed the senses of the veteran. He remarked:

"It is so grateful to see so much elasticity among your people; and I am astonished to see Charleston so wonderfully recuperated after all her disasters."

Very wonderful! More wonderful, if he had known all; but our people have a fine elastic capacity for springing up erect, even under the tread of tyranny! As was said by the brave Carolina lady in the Revolution, when the British officer asked her why the chameleon was called the "rebel flower," she promptly replied:

"Because it grows the more vigorously the more it is trodden upon."

So let us rise! We have the hearts and the souls! "We are a people yet!"

General Lee felt all this when he made the remark. He left us yesterday for home. We rejoice that we have seen him; that we heard the benign tones of voice; that we have felt the pressure of his hands. May the good God protect him where he goes; restore him to his home, and to that repose and health which are all that he requires. Enough for him that his record here on earth is that of the hero; unstained by selfishness—no mercenary—one devoted his country and his country's good—one whose honored memory will never be forgotten among brave and true people, while patriotism and virtue still survive the bayonet.

We must not omit to record the delicious music of the bands of the fire companies, which succeeded to the reception, or rather blended with it. It was the spontaneous tribute of three thousand souls, speaking without concert, the common language of reverence and affection.

"The Hanted Term" is Coming.

The summer months will very soon be fairly ushered in with sultry weather and long train of diseases. It is the season when nature can do little in recuperating our exhausted strength, and when we are required to fortify our physique against the dangers arising from the universal prevalence of sickness. The only true safeguard is that sure and reliable tonic and invigorator, MISLER'S HERB BITEK, which is endorsed and recommended by the medical faculty and by unnumbered thousands of persons, in every city, town and village in the country, who have tested its remedial virtues, and by its aid, preserved or recovered their health. It will purify the Blood and Secretions; cure every form of Indigestion, and afford immediate relief in cases of Dysentery, Colic, Cholera, Cholera Morosa, and kindred diseases. Provide yourself now against a time of need. Delays are often dangerous.

SHAKING AND BURNING.

It is not necessary to journey from the tropics to Alaska in order to experience the extremes of heat and cold. Thousands undergo all the inconveniences of this thermometer change every day, or every other day, as the case may be, without the trouble of moving over the threshold. A word with those involuntary shakers. What are they doing to expediate their return to a medium temperature?—to break the chill and banish the fever? Are they dosing themselves with quinine, thereby expelling the soundness of their bones and impairing the vigor of their brains and nervous system? Some of them are, no doubt, but not the majority of them. It is believed. The value of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a harmless and certain specific for fever and ague is understood and appreciated in all parts of the country where intermittents prevail. The residence of such localities begin to take it early in the spring as a protection against the miasma by which they are surrounded; not all of them, perhaps, for a blind adherence to error is the speciality of some people, but the greater number.

If there is any fixed fact in therapeutics, it is this: that the Bitters are a far better safeguard against all the varieties of periodic maladies produced by unwholesome exhalations than any drug or compound in the materia medica of the profession. This assertion is made with all due respect to the faculty, but being an important truth, and one that nearly concerns the health of large settlements in various parts of the country, and indeed of the public at large, it is made fearlessly. Founded on ample and impeccable testimony, it defies disproof.

To break up chills and fevers, as well as to prevent them, there is nothing so reliable as this wholesome vegetable restorative. May 3, 1870—1mo.

neatly executed at the Cynthiana News Office.

TO PHYSICIANS.

New York, August 15th, 1868.

Allow me to call your attention to my Preparation of Compound Extract Buchu.

The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JANI-PER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in value, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation is redolent; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacy, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore no sugar is used. In cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Having that you will favor with a trial, and that upon inspection, it will meet with your approbation.

With a feeling of confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

Koskoo.
This medicine is rapidly gaining the confidence of the people, and the numerous testimonials of its virtues given by practitioners of medicine, leaves no doubt that it is a safe and reliable remedy for IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD, LIVER DYSPEPSIA, &c.
The last Medical Journal contains an article from Prof. R. S. Newton, M. D., President of the E. Medical College, City of New York, that speaks in high terms of its curative properties, and gives a special recommendation of Koskoo to the practitioners of medicine. This is, we believe, the first instance where such medicines have been officially endorsed by the Faculty of one of the medical colleges, and reflects great credit upon the skill of Dr. Lawrence, its compounder, and also puts "Koskoo" in the rank of all other medicines of the present day.

Groceries Cheap for Cash.
Dr. Smith has a variety of articles cheap. Call and see him, he may have something you want, and at a lower price than you can buy it elsewhere.

Big Mule.
Gen. Boswell, of Leesburg, reports that he has a mule, but recently foaled which measured, when eight days old, 3 feet 9 1/2 inches high. We believe that it is the largest Mule in the State.

Died.
James Savage, who will be remembered by his many friends, he gained while in our midst, came to Cynthiana some time last winter, in order to avail himself of medical attendance at this place. About a month since, he left Cynthiana and repaired to the Lakes, whose bracing atmosphere he thought might prove advantageous to his health. He suffered from an affection of the lungs. But deriving no benefit from the change, he started for his home in New Haven, Indiana, where on Sunday, the 1st day of May, he died.

Bourbon County.
On Saturday last the Democracy of Bourbon County nominated the following ticket:—R. Hawes, county Judge; J. M. Hughes, county clerk; T. E. Moore, Sheriff; J. A. Allen, Jailor; Russell Mann, co. attorney; L. B. Bedford, surveyor; J. O. Briscoe.

Police Court.
The following is published by order of the City Council.

City of Cynthiana vs. Michael Barger, drunkenness and disorderly conduct, fine and cost $7.20.

Church of the Advent-Protestant Episcopal.
The Mite Society will meet to-morrow evening, at the residence of C. B. Cook, Esq., at 7.30.
The following gentlemen, will represent this Parish, at the Diocesan Convention, which will meet at Frankfort on the 26th inst. Lay Delegates—G. H. Perrin, M. D., Hon. W. W. Trimble and C. B. Cook. Alternates—J. W. Peck, Jas. T. Hedges and J. Banks.

A Huge Tree.
We have read of large trees in the State of California, that are said to measure thirty feet in circumference. A tree of such large dimensions would be an object of wonder in Kentucky, and we had not supposed that one could be found in the State that would measure more than half as many feet in circumference. But Dr. Dille informs us that he has a tree growing on his farm, not more than a mile from Cynthiana, that actually measures twenty-nine feet and eight inches in circumference. It stands on the banks of Gray's Run, and is a sycamore, standing all alone, grand, stately and sublime. No charge is made for the privilege of looking at it.

The Wonder of the Age.
The greatest wonder of the age, is that celebrated remedy for diseases arising from a debility of the digestive organs—Hooftland's German Bitters. The power exercised over diseases of this class by the Bitters is indeed miraculous. They cure the worst cases of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Nervous Debility, Want of Appetite, with the greatest facility. For sale every where by Druggists. They are not a beverage.

Sold.
A. J. Garnett brought from H. F. Thompson, last Monday, a Black Horse for which he paid $350.
J. A. Wolford sold his brown mare to J. Reneker, Jr., for $800 cash.

Town Talk.
T. A. Frazer, says that there are two ways to keep potatoes from sprouting—one of which is to eat them as soon as they are taken from the ground—the other, to scald them. Mr. H. Boswell, of Leesburg, is of the opinion, that when scalded they are not fit for planting. But Mr. Holding, says that he has scalded potatoes, and planted them and raised a crop.

Mr. S. B. Cook, who resides on Pleasant Street, received a cat-fish last week which weighed 10 pounds. J. A. Garnett, and J. J. Kellar, killed 29 squirrels, they say, in 30 shots last Monday.

For the last two or three Court days whisky has not been active. Wm. Hedges lost a check for $3,200, that was sent through the mail to this place, in the Post Office robbery that took place a short time back.

Judge Arthur was in town last week, looking hearty. Eggs are worth 20 cents per dozen in this city. Butter is worth all that is asked for it.

An inspector of Weights and Measures is much needed in Harrison.

Do the people of Cynthiana believe with all their hearts that they should have a new Market House? If so, let us have one.

Mr. McMillen has built a new business house on Walnut street. Mrs. Judge Curry will accept our thanks for a waiter full of tender Lettuce, Radishes and young Onions.
Dr. McDowell, has removed his office to Walnut St., in the house formerly occupied by Mrs. Dunn. We have received from D. P. Faulds, 70 Main Street, Louisville, the following new music—"Our Darling Jessie," "Sunflower Waltz," "Lotus Polka" and the "Golden Shore."

A Maysville paper declares that Mrs. Ashbury, who had a short escapade with Riggs, of Mt. Olivit, is now in Cynthiana, with her mother. If Mrs. Ashbury has a mother in Cynthiana, she must have moved here within a few weeks. We understand, however, that she resides in this county.

Mrs. Dunn, wife of Geo. Dunn, deceased, has removed to Ohio.

Mrs. W. J. Stone, of Edinville, arrived in Cynthiana on Tuesday evening last.

Mr. Price, hailing from Maysville, was lodged in our county Jail, last Saturday Evening, for failing to return a horse and buggy to Gilmore & White, of Paris, Ky. On Tuesday he took the insolvent oath, after giving up $4.30 to his attorney, and two lumps to the Jailor, he was released. Such is life.

Last Monday was Court Day in this place, and A. W. Lydiek says, there was but little doing. Sold about 30 head of cattle at fair prices. Medium yearling steers about 6 cents. No mares. Few horses sold at fair prices. Demand for grazing stuff good. Day pleasant. Crowd good. Feeling good.

A Card from Hon. T. L. Jones in Answer to Governor Stevenson.
(To the Editor of the Courier Journal.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5, 1870.
I have read in your paper of the 2d inst., the reply of Governor Stevenson to Senator McCreery. I feel it incumbent upon me to address the public in reference thereto, and would do so instantly, but must await evidence from others which it will require some days to obtain. I deny the position of the Governor, and will attempt to disprove it even by his own confessions; and while I never can admit the statements of his witnesses, I desire to say that in the last two letters from me to him, which he has unwarrantably published, the last written in my bed of sickness, in pencil and on my knee, under pain and irritation, and with no view to its publicity, I used expressions, especially in reference to Mr. Trabue, which I confess are harsh and unnecessary; they look unseemly and are unbecoming me. In justice to myself, therefore, unasked and in advance, I regret and withdraw them.

It must appear to all that the Governor, in publishing these letters (not alluded to by Senator McCreery, and not at all necessary to elucidate any thing previously said), could have had no other object than to shirk responsibility himself and produce a difficulty between myself and others. But in this he is mistaken; for while I shall be ready to vindicate my honor against all, and, if necessary, to the last extremity, the issue is now and first with him, and he can not, shall not thus escape.
THOMAS L. JONES.

DIED.

The Fancy Arabian Saddle Stallion.

MAYFLOWER, JR.,

WILL STAND the present season at Cynthiana, and will be permitted to serve Mares at $100 to insure a mare in foal, and Ten Dollars the season money due when the mare is shown to be in foal, or more part with. Season money due when the service is rendered, with the privilege of returning the mare next year, should I keep the horse.

Good blue grass for mares left to breed, and grain if required at reasonable rates. All care taken to prevent accidents or escapes, but I will not be responsible should any occur.

DESCRIPTION AND PEDIGREE

MAYFLOWER in color is very rich and variegated. 16½ hands high, 9 years old, weighs 1,000 lbs.; in form, style, action and energy he has no equal. He gives all the elegant, fashionable and fancy saddle gait in the most inimitable style, either by the touch or sign. His oldest colts are now coming in use and all who have them think them the best mares they have ever owned. Some few may be found in or near Cynthiana at this time. Those who have any taste for saddle stock would do well by calling to see the horse, and also his produce.

Mayflower was exhibited at the State Fair two years ago; the judges were unanimous in their opinion that he was the best saddle horse in the ring, as also every person who has seen him, as no horse bears such a reputation as a sure foot getter.

Mayflower was raised by Bob Adair, of Mayville. He was sired by the old imported Arabian Stallion Mayflower; his dam a sorrel mare by Imported Buckhunter, grand dam Imported Bay Kitty. I will take pleasure in showing the horse to persons by them calling at my office, on Main Street, in Jones' Row.

THE FAMILY FRIEND.

Whoever possessed a Finkle & Lyon Sewing Machine, but esteemed it a most faithful friend; it is well and truly called the Friend.

THE Finkle & Lyon Machine as now produced, possesses points of excellence and acknowledged merits, which place it far in advance of any other. It is not only unequalled for general family use, but it is equally adapted to heavy cloth and leather.

Special attention is called to the fact, that the arrangements of the Finkle & Lyon Machines are such, that a firm and elastic seam can be made with light tension, and retain the pliability of silk or thread, equally with hand sewing.

It will sew any material or over seams, without soaping or oiling the goods, will make every stitch perfect, and has brought a multitude of valuable unsolicited testimonials.

Prices correspond with other first-class machines. We sell Machines on monthly payments; deliver them and give full instructions free of charge to all who call.

Every Machine fully warranted. Be sure to call and see the Friend, at the West corner of Main and Pleasant Streets, Cynthiana, Ky.

RING'S VEGETABLE AMBROSIA.

This famous Vegetable has been before the public long enough to have been thoroughly tested, and its increasing sale and popularity are the best evidence of its superior merit. As a food for the sick and convalescent, it is unequalled. For restoring the hair to its natural color it has no equal. For curing the itching humors of the scalp and preventing itching it is wonderfully successful. For preventing the hair from falling out it is equally successful.

For restoring the hair to its natural color it has no equal.

For curing the itching humors of the scalp and preventing itching it is wonderfully successful.

For preventing the hair from falling out it is equally successful.

As a dressing nothing surpasses it, it imparts to dry, faded and weary hair that beautiful glossy appearance so much admired.

Containing no oil or grease, it does not soil the finest linen.

It is compounded upon scientific principles of the purest ingredients and is entirely harmless.

Being prepared with the most refined Extracts its odor is delightful.

Testimonials almost without number can be given if necessary, but the AMBROSIA is too well known to require it. Used often and with never fail without it.
